

Top 3 Products On How To Build Your Own Wind And Solar Energy Generators

We've tried for every product that teaches how to build your own solar and energy generators. And there are dozens of those...

After a closer examination of each of these products, we determined the top three products to spare you from months of research.

Here it is:

#1 Home Made Power Plant

In our opinion this is the best product if you're interested in building a solar panel or a wind mill to produce electricity.

The instructions are very straight-forward. Anyone could be a renewable energy generator following these.

Plus I like the simplicity of the guide. They are clear, yet very concise, without leaving any stones unturned.

If you want to buy a DIY guide for solar and wind energy generators, then look no further. You've found the perfect match for your needs.

And everything at a steal of a price.

#2 DIY Power System

This is the runner up.

Not only you learn about solar and wind generators, but you also discover how to build your own batteries to store electricity and even build your own home.

Although this product is more expensive, it delivers tremendous value for the price.

Everything is clearly explained and anyone can start putting the guides into practice right away.

If you are not only interested in renewable energy generators and want to build batteries, make biofuel (for your car) or even build a house, this is a great product.

It's our #2 choice and it's highly recommended as well.

#3 Earth 4 Energy

Earth4Energy is a very popular product and for a good reason: it gives great instructions for building solar and wind generators and also batteries.

Although we recommend this product as well, the details of the Earth 4 Energy guide is not a match for the Home Made Power Plant guide.

Home Made Power Plant is just on another level, although Earth4Energy is a fine product and you can't go wrong with it.

We recommend this as a #3 choice.
